Club membership - It is up to each one of you to PLEASE pay your bi-monthly class fees at the front desk. We have kept the rates for the judo club very low since we started the club. However, many judoka on the mat are NOT paying the center for the class. MNCPPC has remarked about this on numerous occasions. If you are not paying your membership with MNCPPC, you will be asked to leave the facility.

Judo Clinics - Throughout the year, Hui-O hosts clinics for Shufu Yudanshakai. I encourage all of you to try to attend them. The clinics cover a variety of topics. Topics vary from coaching, refereeing, standing techniques, mat techniques, advanced competition skills, different katas, tournament operations, and a variety of other topics. The clinics are held in Beltsville at the Academic Center. They are open to all judoka, regardless of skill level or rank. The clinics are an excellent way to get instruction from different instructors, see new techniques, work with judoka from other clubs, and gain valuable experience and knowledge. Shufu has some of the oldest and best referees, who are all former great competitors, now they are our sensei's and coaches. They live judo in every sense of the word.

Hui-O travel team – We are looking at taking small teams of judoka to local tournament a few hours drive from here. Hui-O supports many of the local tournaments to help build fellowship in judo and to challenge us with different types of competition. There are tournaments in Pennsylvania, Virginia, New York, and the Carolina. We need families to go along. We would like to have a few parents or senior students volunteer to go along on the trip to help drive and to assist with team management. You can help keep stats on the tournament and take photos at the events for us. Robert Kirk was a huge help to us for our trip up to Connecticut. Having additional people along allows us to take the newer judoka to help them gain experience at small events or allow us to take more seasoned players to high level competitions. Two larger tournaments we attend that are coming up soon are the Liberty Bell in Pennsylvania in April and the AM CAN in Niagra Falls, NY in May.

Malloy Takes First Medal For Judo In Olympic Games in London

Olympic News - Marti Malloy captured the U.S. Olympic Team's first medal in judo of the 2012 Olympics in London, a bronze that tested her tenacity and required that she defeat the world's No. 2 seed on the way up the podium.

Twice Malloy had to fight through exhausting golden-score overtime rounds on top of the regular five-minute battles. She had to claw back emotionally from anger and frustration after losing in the semi-finals, which would have kept her on track for the silver or gold. And even before all that, Malloy had to face Portugal's Telma Monteiro across the mats in the first round of her day, among the toughest draws she could have gotten.

"After losing the semi-final, that was the hardest thing in the world to come back from – you want to be mad and angry and upset, but my coach, Jimmy Pedro, pulled me aside and said, 'you came here to win! That was a very close match that you lost! But, if you really want to win a medal, you're going to have to forget about it, totally change your mindset, and come back and focus for the bronze!' And, so, that's what I did."

The day for Malloy started on an amazing note. In one of the biggest upsets of judo in the Olympics so far this year, Malloy, 57 KG, defeated the No. 2 ranked woman in the world, Telma Monteiro who was the flag bearer for the country of Portugal in the opening ceremonies, with a sumi gaeshi for yuko in golden-score overtime.

Malloy (USA Judo Training Site at San Jose State University, San Jose, Calif.) and U.S. Olympic Judo Coach Jimmy Pedro pointed to an evolving trend at the Games: favorites were falling in the early rounds. Malloy threw her momentum behind that trend in defeating Monteiro.

Victory for Malloy came with less than a minute left in her first bout of the day in golden-score overtime after exhausting the regular five-minute round with no score for either fighter.

In her second match of the morning, Malloy quickly dispatched Colombia's Yadinys Amaris with a decisive ippon seio nage (shoulder throw) for instant victory in just 40 seconds of the clock starting.

In her third match against Russia's Irina Zabludina, Malloy saw a half-point wazari reduced by the judges to a yuko. With two shidos (penalties) against her, the two were tied and proceeded to golden-score (first score wins) overtime. With no score in overtime, Malloy won on referee decision, or 'flags.'

That put her into the semi-finals where she faced Corina Caprioriu of Romania. Malloy lost when Caprioriu threw her for ippon with just 7 seconds remaining in the bout. The impact was near devastating – Malloy had been so close to the silver and gold. That's when her Olympic coach Pedro, grabbed her and told her to regroup. She went on to defeat Italy's Giulia Quintavalle, the 2008 Olympic Gold medalist, with a textbook inner foot reap, called kouchi gari, for ippon in a repechage round to take the bronze. Within the hour she was interviewing with camera crews and signing autographs outside ExCeL London, one of the massive, multi-sport venues for the Olympics here in London.

Not making it to the podium but winning two matches on perhaps the highest stage for judo in the world, Team USA's Nick Delpopolo won two rounds in his division, an impressive stand for a first-time Olympian intent on returning.

Delpopolo, 73 KG (Jason Morris Judo, Glenville, N.Y.), dominated his first match, advancing after executing a throw (a variation of harai) for a half-point wazari and then a pin for a second wazari, giving him a full point ippon to end the match in victory against Cheung of Hong Kong .

Delpopolo's second match, however, was not so predictable. His opponent, Belgium's Dirk Van Tichelt, was ranked eight on the Olympic roster and was the 2008 Olympic Bronze medalist. Delpopolo defeated Tichelt by countering an uchimata for a yuko that won the match shortly before the clock ran out.

The clock again ran dry in Delpopolo's third round, this time against Korea's KC Wang. Golden-score overtime also ended without a score by either fighter. The referees gave the match to Wang on flags. Delpopolo later acknowledged that Wang had controlled the fight.

The thing about the Olympics is that you only face great players. Nick Delpopolo's next fight in repechage was against Mongolia's Nyam-Ochir Sanjargal. Delpopolo lost but counted it as a lesson on the road to the Olympics in 2016.
